Using substantiated supporting information, explain how your nominee has met the following Leadership Award criteria which supports CCIL's mandate to safeguard the public and the environment:

- exhibited leadership in the development or revisions of standards, protocols, programs, or policies that ensure that accurate, reliable, and practical testing methods are used in assessing regulatory compliance to protect the public and advance the testing industry;
- fostered an open and consultative approach to establish a strong collaboration or continuous improvement between stakeholders;
- made major contributions to engineering, science, and environment in Canada that positively impact the sectors and market in which CCIL operates; and/or
- advanced the prestige or interest of CCIL by conducting activities which have been of special benefit to CCIL such as published papers, articles, blogs, or made presentations at meetings or conferences

The award is presented on a case-by-case basis and this is not necessarily an annual award and will only be awarded when a suitable candidate is identified. Nominations may be from any industry stakeholder.
