

Leadership Award

CCIL Leadership Award Recipient Mark Hugdahl of ALS

Mark has been a key player in the development, standardization and optimization of test procedures and environmental regulations cross Canada. He regularly volunteers on technical committees to promote the development of laboratory methods, regulations, guidelines, standards and policies adopted at both the provincial and federal levels. Mark is a key contributor and participant in the CCIL's quarterly Environmental Life Sciences meeting and he is quick to share his knowledge to improve the quality, accuracy and defensibility of environmental data in Canada.
